$67 TAX RATE???

Although the Wilmington Tax Rate for 1961 has yet to be confirmed by the State Department of Taxation, unofficial sources in Wilmington state that it will be $67.

Principal Assessor Stanley Webber, as of Wednesday afternoon, had not yet made the annual trip to the Department of Corporations and Taxation, but expected to do so in time to be announced next Monday.

If the $67 tax rate is announced next Monday it will compare very favorably with recent announcements by contiguous towns and cities.

Wilmington's rate last year was $64, which means a $3 increase. Both Woburn and Burlington have announced a $6 increase during the past week.

REPTILES NEXT?

MAY-BELL GETS 30 DAYS

May-bell, the Little Lamb of Glendale Circle, received a 30 day reprieve from the Board of Health, last week, before she must seek other climes.

And when May-bell leaves, her owner, Mrs. Mary Walden, is planning to substitute an Iguana Lizard, which grows to a length of four to six feet. The Board of Health, says Mrs. Walden, has no regulations concerning reptiles (see letter on page 7).

The Walden family likes animals, and has been involved in a controversy over the keeping of a pony, on their half-acre lot, in former years, with the Board of Health.

Mrs. Walden, in her letter, says that 'some of the town's members of the legal profession' (presumably the Town Counsel - Ed), has ruled that the keeping of one animal, not for breeding purposes, and not for financial gain, made a pet of that animal.

It was a question of whether or not May-bell was a pet that puzzled the Board of Health.

May-bell was originally given to Mrs. Walden on Mother's Day, as a pet. Neighbors soon complained to the Health Board that May-bell was calling for companionship at 5 am.

The Board of Health gave Mrs.

Walden a temporary ruling that she could keep the animal for 30 days, while the members of the Health Board pondered the issue: Pet or Livestock.

Last week the Health Board visited the Walden family, and inspected May-bell, and the family rabbits, as well as the entire grounds.

They were greeted by tearful children of the neighborhood, who guessed their mission, and pleaded 'Don't take May-bell away'.

They found she was being kept in the Walden cellar at night, so that the Walden's might be the first to hear her say 'Ba-a-h', at 5 am., and go down and quiet her.

Everything, in the cellar, and in the half-acre grounds, was immaculate.

In an executive session, after their inspection of the Walden grounds and home, the Health Board decided that May-bell could stay for another 30 days - after which, they reasoned, she would no longer be a lamb, but a sheep. The Walden family was notified by registered mail.

And, says Mrs. Walden, when May-bell goes we are going to get a pet Iguana. Her son has already bought a four foot California Banded King Snake.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS APPROVED NEW LAYOUT FOR NICHOLS STREET

A new layout for Nichols St., in which the street would meet Shawshen Avenue at right angles, several hundred feet west of the present road junction, was approved by the Middlesex County Commissioner on June 27th.

The suggestion had originally come from the Wilmington Board of Selectmen, as a part of their program for alleviating conditions on the Nichols St. Railroad Bridge. The Selectmen want Nichols Street to cross the railroad at right angles.

The County Commissioners did not approve of the Selectmen's proposals for the bridge itself, and suggested that the legislators for Wilmington, in the state house, be contacted for this purpose.

TM Cecil Lancaster, Town Engineer Alphonse Savignac and Highway Superintendent James White represented the town of Wilmington at the hearing. TM Lancaster told the Selectmen that an error had been made in the notification of the BEMRR so that the railroad bridge was not a subject of the hearing.

GUNVAR DAHLIN ILL

Miss Gunvar Dahlin, Brattle Street, has been confined to her home for the past week with pneumonia.

TOWN COUNSEL ASKED ABOUT SUNDAY LAWS

The Sunday Blue Laws made Wilmington a nice and quiet town last Sunday, and again on July 4th., as business was brought almost to a standstill with even the department store that was open last Fourth of July closed.

Town Counsel Philip Buzzell has been asked by the Board of Selectmen to furnish them with an opinion on which licenses can, and which cannot be granted for Sundays.

The immediate cause, it is understood, is a report that the Tewksbury Selectmen have granted Sunday licenses to 3 Real Estate Dealers.

Basing their action on this

RECEPTION FOR NEW MINISTER

The Reverend and Mrs. Terry Thomason, of the Methodist Church, and their daughter Nancy, were guests of honor at a reception at the Methodist Church, last week. Greeting them in the reception line are Selectmen John D. Brooks and Mrs. Wavie Drew.

RUMORED BD OF PUBLIC WELFARE MOVES TO PICKERING BUILDING

No official announcement has been made as yet, but the Wilmington Board of Public Welfare is expected to move into the new Pickering Building, on Main Street, about August 15th. Walter F. Coleman, Agent for the board, has been given no information, but Herbert Pickering, owner of the new building, has confirmed that an agreement has been reached 'in principle'. He is still awaiting final confirmation.

At the present time, and for the past nine years the Board has been in the Town Hall 'wing', having been moved there by past Town Manager Dean Cushing, in an effort to consolidate all town offices into one building.

Cecil Lancaster, present Town Manager, for some months past has been trying to get more room for other offices in the Town Hall. The expected move will allow him more room in what is now a crowded building

BOUTWELL STREET BOY SAVES YOUNGSTER IN CONCORD RIVER

DAVID DE VELLIS

17 year old David De Vellis, High School senior, son of Mr. and Vincent De Vellis of Boutwell Street is credited with saving the life of a five year old boy, in Billerica, on the 4th of July.

The youngster, whose name has been withheld, was in a small boat which was overturned by the wash of a large motor boat which, according to spectators 'just kept on going'.

Young De Vellis, who was in a nearby boat, jumped into the water and rescued the youngster from under the overturned boat.

He modestly declares 'It was nothing', but others who saw the accident say that his alertness and bravery saved the life of the five year old youngster.

WINNER OF 5 STATE & REGIONAL AWARDS

SIDELIGHTS ON THE GAS STATION HEARING

A week ago last night the Board of Selectmen held two hearings on gas stations, and decided at 11 pm., after an executive session, to grant both licenses. The Town Crier could not report fully, because it was already past press time, but it did report the news and was still on the streets at 7 am.

One interesting facet was a question by one of the spectators, as to whether or not the new station would be economically feasible. He wanted to know if a market analysis had been taken.

A Mr. Brady, who represented Texaco, assured the Selectmen that this had been done. His company, he said, would not go into a town with an "index" of 150 - said index being compiled by the Massachusetts Department of Commerce.

They wouldn't he said, go into Malden, which had an index of 219. Wilmington however, he called a "growing town with an index of 120".

TRAINABLE YOUNGSTERS

Wilmington this fall is to have a class of "Trainable Youngsters". Neglecting humanitarian viewpoints (which of course shouldn't be neglected), it is still a good investment for the town.

In every community there are children who, for reason of an accident in birth, or otherwise, are unable to keep up with the other children in school. Such children in the past have often been totally neglected, and in time often become a burden on their communities.

That day is now past. The Commonwealth has provided laws for the training of these youngsters, and incentives in the form of reimbursement to the communities of half the teacher's salary. The teacher has to be specially qualified, can have no more than 10 children in such a class, and receives more money than does the average teacher.

Last year Wilmington sent two such trainable children to Malden and Wakefield, where such classes have already been established. It cost $1000 for tuition, and $2340 for taxi transportation ($13 a day for 180 days). The total cost was $3340 for two children. One other child who was eligible, couldn't attend for a reason that needs not be discussed here.

This year there are seven such trainable children in Wilmington. The cost of the taxi fare would more than double, and the tuition would go up to $3500 a year.

Every business has its hazards, too. Are you fully protected against the special hazards in your business?

POST MORTEM

The Fourth has come;

The Fourth has passed;

Now let's attend

The Requiem Mass.

By establishing a trainable class in Wilmington the town will be saving money.

The teacher will cost $6500 in salary, and 50% will be reimbursed by the state. The taxi fares, instead of being about $25 a day, will probably be about $10 a day.

And, in addition, being only seven children, three more can be accommodated. Billerica, it is understood, will send those three children to the Wilmington class, and will pay $1500 a year in tuition.

In dollars and cents, if for no other reason the establishment of a Trainable Class in Wilmington is a good investment.

A MULTI-TOWN IPSWICH RIVER ASSOCIATION

The North Reading Transcript reported last week that a group of people in that town are advocating the forming of an Ipswich River Water Shed Association. In the group were members of a committee known as the North Reading Conservation Commission, and experts from Essex County and the US Department of Agriculture.

The group feels that an Ipswich River Water Shed Association can guarantee that the resources of the river would be preserved for the public benefit, both now and in the future.

It's a good idea, and Wilmington's Selectmen should investigate.

North Reading has already spent some thousands of dollars in channel control of the Ipswich. Wilmington is preparing to spend money next year, for the same purpose.

Yet in both cases only a partial control can be had, because of the lack of co-operation from other towns on the river. The writer, some years ago, advocated the use of the then existing Union Health Plan, for the same purpose, but the plan fell by the wayside. Perhaps this is the answer.

OUR HISTORICAL ARTICLES

Perhaps it is that the people of Wilmington are more interested in what happened 50 or 100 years ago than they are in what is happening today -- anyway, everytime the Town Crier prints anything of an historical nature there are always plenty of telephone calls and other comments from our readers.

Historical articles are not easy to write, and be 100% correct. A tremendous amount of research is involved, at times, even in a small story, and it is very easy to make a mistake.

We appreciate the telephone calls and comments, but it would be even better if our people wrote letters, especially when there is the possibility of there being a contribution of value, historically speaking. It is impossible to always get around and see each person who has knowledge of some particular event, even though we are very much interested.

A NAME FOR MR. PICKERING

Herbert Pickering, Wilmington plumber, took quite a ribbing from his friends during the days that Urban Renewal was a prime subject for conversation in Wilmington.

Mr Pickering owned a ramshackle building which had seen quite a varied history, once being known as a Buck Brothers store, and later the domain of His Honor, the Mayor of Wilmington.

Some members of the Wilmington Housing Authority, in perhaps a joking manner used to call Main Street "Deadwood Gulch", and Herb's place "Pickering's Palace", as a part of their conversational attitude towards Wilmington Square.

TOWN NOTES

Quietest Fourth

Wilmington celebrated the quietest Fourth of July in many a year, this Tuesday. Other than a few lawn parties and such there was no excitement, and no noise. A few, very few, smuggled fire-crackers were to be heard from time to time - and that was all.

The only really busy place in Wilmington was Interstate High Way 93, where 12,000 cars went to and fro, to the races at Rockingham Park.

Fishing

Sometimes we wonder if it is worth while going to church. Last Sunday several of our friends accused us of fibbing, as we left church, because we reported that Burr Baldwin was catching trout, in Lubbers Brook. They had tried and failed.

But Harry Cutter, of Belmont Ave has come to our rescue. He caught the limit, Tuesday morning, in the section of the brook above Middlesex Ave. Its very wet there, this year, due to the temporary dam which is a part of the new bridge construction on Middlesex Ave. and anyone who tries the area is advised to use boots.

Harry inspired us, and we made a brief trip into the area, with the same bait we had, i.e. worms, but we had only one hook with us, and we lost that on the third cast.

We had better luck last week up at Foster's Pond, when we snagged 15 black bass. We just kept on fishing, as we told our friends, until we ran out of cigars.

Needed Help

Patsy Calandrillo is a philosophical soul. Someone stole two statues of the Blessed Mother, from in front of his stand on Main Street, Tuesday night.

Patsy's thought on the subject is 'Maybe they really needed them!'

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES

RETURN FROM

NEW YORK ASSEMBLY

Five Wilmington families have returned from a week's visit to New York City, where they attended the 'United Worshipers' district assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Joseph Charnecky of Randolph Road, Mrs. Marjorie Stanley of Salem Street, Mrs. Mary Nelson of Swain Road, and Mr and Mrs William Tseko of Walker Road accompanied the presiding minister of the Wilmington Assembly, Mr. William Jones, to the Yankee Stadium, where over 92,000 were present for the services.

The outstanding events of the assembly were the baptism of 1732 new ministers, and the release of a one volume edition of the New World Translation of the Holy Scriptures.

The Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses meets in Kingdom Hall, Bridge Lane, Tuesdays, 8 to 9 pm., Fridays 7:30 to 9:30 pm and Sunday afternoons from 3:30 to 5:45.

SELECTMEN VOTE MORE

GASOLINE STATION STUDY

In the Selectmen's meeting of June 28th., after voting a gas station license to Dr. E. C. MacDougal, and a license to Sam Grant, the Selectmen voted four to one to take up again the study of gas stations, originally voted last August.

The vote was on motion of Mr. De Felice, who wanted no more gas stations, and to have the study completed, working in conjunction with the Planning Board, by October first.

As voted there was no mention of the gas station permits, but the Oct. 1st deadline prevailed. Selectman Kidder voted against the motion.

TIGHT PENNANT RACE IN LITTLE LEAGUE

ON TOP

The Wilmington Little League Yankees are in the top position in a tight pennant race, being one half game ahead of the Tigers.

LL MOTHERS MEET MONDAY

The Wilmington Little League Mothers are scheduled to meet in the D.A.V. Hall on Grove Ave. next Monday, at 8:30pm

With only half a game separating them, the Little League Yankees and the Little League Tigers are to play tonight in what may be a crucial game for the 1961 Little League Pennant. The league leading Yankees have won 9 games and lost 4, while the second place Tigers have won 9 and lost 5. Tonight's game, which is to start at 6:15 will have quite an important part in the final figures.

Mark Peters

Mark Peters, catcher for the Yankees, is the heavy hitter of the league, with 10 home runs credited to him for the season.

The teams have played each four times, with both teams winning two games. They are scheduled to play two more times after tonight - the last game being the last of the season.

While the Yankees and Tigers are battling for first place an equally stiff battle is being fought by the Indians and the Red Sox, for third place. The Indians have won 5 games and lost 9, while the Red Sox have four wins and 9 losses on their score board.

UMPIRES DON' LIKE POLCAROS (AND VICE VERSA)

POLCAROS BRICK HEAVERS

Fr Row, Eddie Palino, Joe Bevilacqua, Al Mc-Donald, Burr Baldwin, Lloyd Belbin, Ted Wicks.
Rear: Gerry O'Reilly, Buzz Busineau, Bob Gillies, Ralph Tarricone.

(The rest of the team was absent - they didn't like the umpire)

Some one of these days the Polcaro Softball Team is going to arrive at the Memorial Park Diamond with every man having in his baseball glove a brick or other suitable instrument for the coaching of Umpires.

In other words the Polcaros are the boys who are always being 'robbed' by the umpires, and they don't mind letting the world know it.

But what the Polcaro players don't know is that they can be replaced. Owner Jimmy Fiorenza has hired a new man, all six foot eight, well known to Wilmington Sports Fans.

That man, (the 6'8" definition is enough) is the redoubtable Winston Fairfield, now playing basketball for the University of Illinois, and former star of Wilmington's High School hoopsters.

Fiorenza figures that Fairfield will be able to scare any umpire about 10 times as much as any player he has.
Just get rid of the whole gang he says, and put in Winston as a one-man team!

But the Polcaros really have a gripe coming, for twice this year they have been victims of rulings by an umpire. From their viewpoint the boys in blue are just trying to collect a few bucks or apple pies or something - and they aren't talking about the Wilmington Gendarmes.

It seems that when the Polcaros have a game scheduled the umpires always show up late, and then, before they even say 'play ball' announce that they have to go home early.

Baseball, say the Polcaros, is for relaxation, and who can relax under such circumstances? - that is, everyone in the Polcaros except Jimmy Fiorenza, who declares that he wants victories - or else!

Yup, either the Polcaros have to play in the darkness when one cannot possibly see the ball, or else the ump. starts to worry about their night-driving vision, and knocks off the game an hour before sunset, with an inning still to be played.

Take the last game with the two-faced Townies, owned by Mr Gildart. The Townies are two-faced because they play in two leagues, and one face isn't enough under such circumstances.

The score was 7 to 6, in the fifth, and it was still anybody's ball game, even if the Townies were ahead.

So the ump, from his lofty position, announces that the next inning is the last one.
Scratch O'Reilly was fighting mad at the news. He saw fire!
It was just as if he had been stung by a hornet, or a bee!

Scratch is the Manager, and whatever Scratch does all the other little Polcaros have to do too.

So they all got mad, just as though it were a nest of hornets, and it was in that frame of mind that they played the sixth and last inning.

Naturally, in such a stage of thinking, the Polcaros could not get a hit, let alone cross the plate, and the Townies won! The Polcaros drove home
-- and in the bright sunlight,
in their most furious manner.

And it's either going to be Winston, or bricks for the ump
In the other games of the week the Weinbergs have again
jinxed the Townies, by strolling around the diamond (as before reported) and making the score 18 to 14, and the Shamrocks won their second game of the season, defeating National Poly 11 to 10.

As you may recall, my mother was a Harnden of the branch of the family that moved to Lynn during the nineteenth century. I would appreciate it if you could send me two or three extra copies of the map so I could send one to her and one to my sister and still keep my own copy.

Please give our best regards to our Wilmington friends.

Dear Larz:

No doubt you've heard by now that the Board of Health ruled May-belle is livestock and thus must return to her original home within 30 days. As we decided at the time of her surprise arrival her stay would be only temporary, it would be not only a waste of time but rather infantile to question a ruling which at present does not concern us.

If by any chance someone else ever finds themselves in a similar situation, they do have several legal points in their favor. At the time we applied for a pony permit, the Board of Appeals, on advice of some of the town's members of the legal profession, ruled that they had no legal right to refuse us permission to keep a pony. They further stated that one animal of a kind that was not kept solely for breeding purposes or that did not show a financial gain was definitely a pet - not live stock.

It must also be remembered that, although they cannot prevent you from acquiring an animal, they can prevent you from keeping it if it is maintained in such a manner that it becomes a health problem or a public nuisance. All animal lovers agree that this is only fair, not only to the neighbors, but most importantly to the animal itself.

We would argue our case to the Supreme Court if need be, if having and loving animals make the difference between listening to our young son brag about the times he saved a baby bird, or raised a motherless squirrel, or even cured a stray cat of pneumonia last Christmas and listening to the two boys nearby brag about having shot 43 birds each so far this year with their bee-bee guns.

Our yard is almost completely fenced in. Now we can relax and enjoy the animal without being afraid of them causing trouble in someone else's yard.

It appears our next venture in animal land will be in the reptile family. Our reasons are many:

1st. Randy used his graduation money to send for a four foot California Banded King Snake (not poisonous - just a constrictor) and 2 Desert Iguana Lizards. We have had the small circus variety which are rather difficult, because of their size, to keep track of. Randy figured the Iguanas wouldn't present that problem because they grow to be four to six feet long.

Besides, he said, 'They're awful good moth catchers. Think of all the money we are going to save on moth-balls.'

The snake had better become a vegetarian fast, as I'm sure no one will have the heart to feed it a live mouse. It's different when they're free, then each has a sporting chance.

2nd. As far as we know, the Board of Health hasn't dreamed up any regulations concerning reptiles.

3rd. And, most important, I firmly believe all children should be introduced, while young enough, to reptiles so as to prevent them from developing any foolish fears.

Once I showed a five inch brown grass snake to a big manly appearing blacksmith. He turned deathly white and became violently ill. It was embarrassing and pitiful to see him. I don't ask them to love reptiles, just not to develop a phycopathic fear of them. Sometimes ones reaction to fear is more dangerous than the thing feared.

One of the neighborhood's has asked: 'Don't you waste a lot of money on animals?'

This made me stop and start figuring. My conclusions are that for the price of a pack of cigarettes we can feed a rabbit for a week, and for the price of a drink at the Colonial Inn, the lamb can be fed for a week. As none of our family smokes or drinks we are able to enjoy the animals as well as not fill our systems with slow poisons.

As long as there are Walden's on Glendale Circle there will always be a changing number and variety of pets for all children to love and learn by. The only rules for admission are:

1. Treat the animals with kindness at all times.

2. Remember to shut and lock all cages and gates when leaving.

My birthday is August 15th. I wonder what longed for animal my family will palm off under the guise of a gift. So far I have received, on various occasions:

Sweet William (a de-odorized skunk)
2 baby alligators
May-belle, the lamb
Puppies, both sick and well
Alley cats
White rats, etc.

Karen and her boy-friend have been talking in terms of an Armadillo. Does any one need an ant exterminator?

Did you know a baby elephant is only $3500, and a tiger only $900? They say Ocelots make lovely pets, and they are as low as $95. Boa Constrictors and pythons cost by the foot.

Thank you for turning a sympathetic ear to our problems.

Sincerely,
Mary E. Walden

ESCAPEES NABBED ON 93

Two New Hampshire youths who had escaped from the Manchester New Hampshire Industrial School didn't celebrate much Independence on Independence Day.

The boys stole a Renault sedan in Manchester, and were cruising down 93 Tuesday night when they were noticed by two men from the Registry of Motor Vehicles, Inspectors Pritchard and Callahan, at 11:45pm.

The boys spent the night in the Wilmington lock-up, and were released to Supt. Frederick Fitch of the N.H. School Wednesday morning.

TOWN DUMP IS IMPROVING SAYS HEALTH CHAIRMAN

During the session of the Board of Health last week, the Chairman of the Board declared that the Wilmington Town Dump is improving, and that 'each year it is better than before'.

The discussion had been prompted by an inquiry as to whether the Town Manager had done anything towards finding some town owned land suitable for a dump. The Board was told that, as far as was known, nothing had been done.

Gus Walker, the Chairman, then gave as his opinion that, until the TM does something the Board will have to continue with the present dump, operated by a private contractor. It was, he declared, an operation that would cost the town more money to operate by itself, instead of under contract.

Part of the discussion involved waste materials from the Waltham Door and Window plant, in North Wilmington, now starting in operation.

Waltham Door and Window will have to dispose of eight truck loads of waste wood products each week, when it goes into full time operation.

The Board of Health decided that if the wood were in small enough pieces it could be dumped in the Wilmington Town Dump, using the sanitary land fill practice.

A DOG'S LIFE SAY NICK

CURTIS TRAVERS
IN CARIBBEAN

Curtis P Travers, engineman fireman, USN, son of Mr and Mrs Thomas D Travers of 12 Gunderson Road is serving on board the assault ship USS Boxer, flagship for Amphibious Squadron 10, now conducting exercises in the Caribbean off the coast of Puerto Rico.

Helicopters from the Boxer landed troops behind the beachhead, while landing craft loaded with Marines and supplies from the other squadron ships approached Vieques Island from the sea, in a 'dual attack' principal of verticle envelopment, the newest concept in amphibious warfare.

HENRY MUNROE NAMED IN POSTAL PUBLICATION

Henry Munroe, clerk at the Wilmington Post Office has been commended, in the Postal Service News (magazine) issue of June 1961, for his work in drawing a descriptive poster for the Wilmington Postoffice.

The poster calls attention of the patrons of the Post Office that their box rents are due, and according to Postmaster Henry Porter was responsible in making it possible for a very high percentage of the box rents to be paid on time, which, in turn, made it unnecessary to close off service to many of the boxes.

It was the first time that a news item about the local post-office had appeared in the publication.

Mr. Munroe joined the Wilmington Postoffice in 1957.
